We come to school, wash our hands, and hang our things in our lockers. Then, we begin to play. Putting together puzzles, building with blocks,
painting,
playing in the kitchen,
making colorful artwork,

Lights out means “Stop, look, and listen.”

and playing at the train table.

Then, we clean up our rooms.
Next is circle time in...

During activity time, we work with tools and beads, work on art at the easel, share a story with our friends, color with markers,

of course, play with vehicles,
work on projects,

get a little messy,

and share

our

toys

in the light,

sand,

water

tables.
When the lights go out, we “Stop, look, and listen.”

Then, we clean up the rooms, wash our hands,

maybe enjoy another story, and have our snack.

Now we play on the playground. or have gym with Ms. McMichael.

When our day ends, we walk to the hallway benches, and we wait for our turn to say good-bye and go home.
