The children embraced the “Theatre” theme this month in full force. They learned how to be a polite audience. They have added several new words to their vocabulary describing the Theatre, such as stage, curtains, lights, stage left, stage right, backstage, actor, applause and bravo.

The children have been good at taking turns, acting out the stories using props and costumes from the “Three Little Pigs”, “The Three Little Bears” and “The Three Billy Goats Gruff”, along with some variations to these stories. Since the Red and Blue Room children are three years old, it was a good fit to use these stories.

Please enjoy the following pictures, as The Show Must Go On!

We want to say Thank You to our parents for coming to celebrate Elena, Arnav and James’ Birthdays with us. We look forward to celebrating Ruby, Gwynnie, Alexander and Ilan’s Birthdays in the new year.

Congratulations to James and Carlos and their families on the arrival of their new baby sisters.

We want to wish all of you a wonderful and relaxing Winter Break! We look forward to seeing everyone in the new year 2013!

Our theme in January will be Animals in Winter.
